Artist Statement:

I am heavily influenced by an early connection with circles, a compulsion to collect scraps of paper, and the constant desire to spend time alone with trees.

My sculptures reflect the power of humanity and the natural world. The Star Series is inspired by a night sky and Carl Sagan's teachings. Each artwork is infused with positive energy and goodwill. Stemming from the understanding that we are all made of star stuff and we are all powerfully connected, these artworks are mini constellations connecting the clay of the earth to the sky. The Fragility Series explores the capacity to recover from tragedy. The series was created in the wake of heartbreak and setback, built using an additive method; these artworks are about rebuilding after a loss. With the Sun + Earth Series, ceramic forms are created specifically to gather sun prints, each form unique in pattern but reflecting a repetitious cellular structure reminiscent of all matter. The prints are a record of the sun and the earth meeting, made in appreciation of who we are and what powers us.

I incorporate circles, whether adding or subtracting, into almost every artwork. The use of this signature shape ties into the cellular structure of water, and the shape of the sun and the earth. It stems from a sense of the sacred force and power of the planets, and the passion to connect with the natural environment.
